Notes on Financial Reports (FY2017)

1. Important accounting policies

(1) Valuation standards and methods for inventory assets ("Other" of Current Assets)

By the lower of cost or market value method based on first-in first-out system

(2) Method for depreciation of non-current assets

Non-current assets are depreciated by the straight-line method.

(3) Reporting standards for reserves

① Accrued seasonal bonus

Summer bonus amounts accrued for directors and employees during the current term are reported.

② Reserve for retirement allowance

In accordance with the accounting principles for public interest corporations, with regard to retirement allowance payment projections, it has become necessary to report the retirement allowance liability for directors and employees at 100% of 2,371,583,022 yen, the payable term-end liability, as the reserve for retirement allowance. However, since retirement allowance liabilities beyond one year are not provided by the U.S. and Japanese governments' annual subsidies, which cover nearly all of RERF's expenses, the reserve for such retirement allowance has not been recorded.

(4) Accounting procedures for consumption taxes

Consumption taxes are calculated based on the tax-inclusive method.

(5) Handling of lease transactions

Finance lease transactions are accounted for in a manner conforming to ordinary sale and purchase transactions in accordance with the "Accounting standards for lease transactions" (Financial Accounting Principles No. 13 [June 17, 1993 (Financial Accounting Council, Group I), revised on March 30, 2007]).

7. Others

- (1) "Unallowable Costs," provided on No. A-122, Circular of U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB)

General Fund 218,440 yen

- (2) Long-term prepaid expenses

The sewage facility using defrayment was capitalized as a long-term prepaid expense, and it's amortized over 6 years in accordance with the regulation of the corporate tax laws.

(Unit: Yen)

Item	Acquisition Cost	Total Accumulated expense	Closing Balance of Current Term
Long-term prepaid expense (Acquired in FY2012)	1,177,761	1,114,554	63,207

- (3) Subsidy Income

Until the end of FY2013, RERF recorded as subsidy income the received U.S. and Japan subsidies and the sum equivalent to depreciation for donated buildings under the recurring revenues and gains, and included the exchange gain/loss of the U.S. subsidy under the recurring changes. However, since FY2014, RERF has followed note 13 in the "notes to the accounting standards for public nonprofit organizations" and recorded the subsidies received, including the exchange gain/loss, under the changes in restricted net assets. This records the sum included in the direct and indirect costs under the recurring changes as the net assets released from restrictions.

8. External Grants

Summary of FY2017 external grants is as follows:

(Unit: Yen)

Item	Number of Grants	Amount Received	Expenditure	Amount Carried Over
Japan society for the promotion of science - Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (S)	1	7,200,000	7,200,000	0
Japan society for the promotion of science - Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (B)	2	4,000,000	4,000,000	0
Japan society for the promotion of science - Grant-in-Aid for Scientific Research (C)	3	4,394,436	2,783,278	1,611,158
MEXT - Grant-in-Aid for Core-to-Core Program	1	200,000	200,000	0
MHLW - Comprehensive research project against circulatory disease, diabetes, and other lifestyle-related diseases	1	1,620,000	1,620,000	0
MHLW - Comprehensive anti-cancer research	1	550,764	550,764	0
Total	9	17,965,200	16,354,042	1,611,158

The above summary is for information purposes. External grants received from Japanese government agencies are issued to individual employees of an organization and not to the organization itself. As such, under present government guidelines, RERF does not recognize the income and expenses from these grants as part of its official statements of accounts.

However, it should be noted that certain external grants allow an indirect cost percentage. This funding from those grants is transferred to RERF as income and is included as operating income in the Statement of Changes in Net Assets of RERF's financial statements.

* "Amount Received" includes the balance carried over from the previous fiscal year and interest income.

FY2017 Audit Report

Dr. Ohtsura Niwa
Chairman, Radiation Effects Research Foundation

We, the auditors, have audited Directors' performance of their duties for FY2017, which started on April 1, 2017, and ended on March 31, 2018. In accordance with the relevant laws and ordinances of Japan, we have prepared this audit report to summarize our findings and opinions as follows:

1. Method of audit and audited items

We communicated with the Directors and personnel, among others, of the Foundation. We also attended the Board of Directors meetings and other significant meetings and received Directors' reports on their performance of duties. We then investigated the status of activities and properties.

Based on the aforementioned method, we audited the report of activities and its appended documents for the said fiscal year, and also examined the said fiscal year's financial statements, their appended documents, and the list of properties.

2. Audit results

(1) Audit results concerning reports of activities

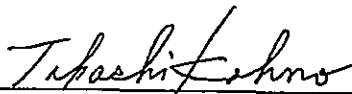

- i) We affirm that the report of activities and its appended documents present fairly the status of the Foundation in conformity with the relevant laws and ordinances as well as the Articles of Incorporation (AOI).
- ii) We found no evidence of unlawful acts on the part of the Directors with respect to their performance of duties or significant circumstance in contravention of laws, regulations, or the AOI.

(2) Examination results concerning financial statements, their appended documents, and the list of properties

We affirm that the financial statements, their appended documents, and the list of properties, present fairly the position of the properties as well as the changes in net assets of the Foundation in every important point.

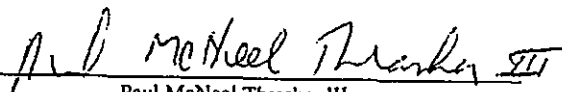

June 5, 2018
